Enforcement of lien without judicial intervention

39-20-45

If an occupant of a self service storage unit has failed to pay their dues in a fifty day default period than the owner has the right to sell the property in the unit. This can only be done after the owner of the self-service storage facility has made every attempt to contact the occupant, a detailed notice has been delivered in some form to the occupant and there is no response to the notice. An advertisement for the public sale must be published in a newspaper of general circulation where this facility is located once a week for two consecutive weeks. The notice must include information and a description regarding the property, the address of the facility and where it is located, the name of the occupant and the time, place and manner of the sale. If there is not a newspaper where the facility is located than the notice must be posted in six places fifteen days prior to the sale.

Section When	Notice	Where
39-20-45	An advertisement for the public sale of property in a self storage unit where the owner has been in default. The notice must include information and a description regarding the property, the address of the facility and where it is located, the name of the occupant and the time, place and manner of the sale.	A newspaper of general circulation where the self storage facility is located	Once a week for two consecutive weeks

Exact wording:

“If occupant has been in default continuously for fifty days, owner may enforce its lien, provided owner shall comply with, during the fifty-day default period, the following procedure. The occupant must be notified in writing by delivery by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the last known address of occupant. The owner also shall notify other parties with superior liens or security interests as defined in this rental agreement. The notice is presumed delivered when notice of delivery, failure to accept delivery, or the impossibility of delivery is received by owner. Owner's notice shall demand payment within a specified time, not less than fourteen days after delivery of the notice. It shall state that, unless the claim is paid within the time stated in the notice, the personal property will be advertised for public sale to the highest bidder, and will be sold at public sale to the highest bidder at a specified time and place. After the expiration of the fifty-day default period, the owner shall publish an advertisement of the public sale to the highest bidder once a week for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation where the self-service storage facility is located. The advertisement shall include: a brief and general description of the personal property, reasonably adequate to permit its identification; the address of the self-service storage facility and the number, if any, of the space where the personal property is located, and the name of the occupant; and the time, place, and manner of the public sale. The public sale to the highest bidder shall take place not sooner than fifteen days after the first publication. If there is no newspaper of general circulation where the self-service storage facility is located, the advertisement must be posted at least fifteen days before the date of the public sale and in not less than six conspicuous places in the neighborhood where the self-service storage facility is located.”

Notice of the adoption of Federal regulations
39-25-180

Any proposed regulations in this section under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act must be published in the official state newspaper assigned by the Commissioner of Agriculture. Objections may be filed with the Commissioner within thirty days of the publication if no objection arises than the regulation will take effect sixty days after the filing of the date stated for objections. If objections are made to any of the regulations than the Commissioner must hold a public hearing on this matter.

Section When	Notice	Where
39-25-180	A notice of proposed regulations under the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act stating a date for objections to be heard	A state newspaper assigned by the Commissioner of Agriculture	After the proposal of regulations

Exact wording:

“(h) A Federal regulation automatically adopted pursuant to this chapter takes effect in this State on the date it becomes effective as a Federal regulation. The Commissioner shall publish all other proposed regulations in the official State newspaper or publication prescribed by the Commissioner. A person who may be adversely affected by a regulation may, within thirty days after a Federal regulation is automatically adopted, or within thirty days after publication of any other regulation, file objections with the Commissioner, in writing, and a request for a hearing. The timely filing of substantial objections to a Federal regulation automatically adopted stays the effect of the regulation in the State of South Carolina.

If no substantial objections are received and no hearing is requested within thirty days after publication of a proposed regulation, it shall take effect on a date set by the Commissioner. The effective date shall be at least sixty days after the time for filing objections has expired. If timely substantial objections are made to a Federal regulation within thirty days after it is automatically adopted or to a proposed regulation within thirty days after it is published, the Commissioner, after notice, shall conduct a public hearing to receive evidence on the issues raised by the objections. Any interested person or his representative may be heard. The Commissioner shall act upon objections by order and shall mail the order to objectors by certified mail as soon after the hearing as practicable. The order shall be based on substantial evidence in the record of the hearing. If the order concerns a Federal regulation, it may reinstate, rescind or modify it. If the order concerns a proposed regulation, it may withdraw it or set an effective date for the regulation as published or as modified by the order. The effective date shall be at least sixty days after publication of the order.”
